SO WHAT ELSE: SUPPORTING COMMUNITIES FROM THE INSIDE, OUT

SWE hires staff from within the community and collaborates with local organizations to offer services and programs requested by residents, empowering communities and creating lasting change. SWE's Food Access Model utilizes rescued food to distribute at pop up pantries, partner organizations, and out-of-school time meals. SWE distributes 22, 675 meals per week in Baltimore, and provides basic necessities like diapers, clothing and feminine hygiene products to 6,225 individuals at 12 sites. Additionally, SWE offers 15 youth programs and 12 family-friendly events per year.

Baltimore City Hunger Relief
